

I'm not a robot

London St. Pancras International station is conveniently located in central London in the Kings Cross area and can be easily reached by National Rail, London Underground, bus services and car.Kings Cross St Pancras Underground station is served by 6 Tube lines: Victoria (light blue line), Northern (black line), Metropolitan (purple line), Piccadilly (dark blue line), Circle (yellow line) & Hammersmith and City (pink line).If youre travelling into London by train, you can get to London St Pancras from Euston, Victoria, and Paddington stations in around half an hour.If youre driving to St Pancras International, youll find a Click and Park car park at the station it has 315 spaces and is always open, with staff on hand 24/7. If youre cycling to the station, there are plenty of cycle spaces where you can store your bike too. Standard & Standard PremierBusiness Premieraccessible travelHow far ahead of time do you need to arrive?90 minutes45 - 60 minutes60 - 75 minutesHow far ahead of time does the gate close?30 minutes15 minutes30 minutesWhen you arrive at London St Pancras International station, youll find the Eurostar check-in gates in the middle of the station, on the main concourse. The gates are clearly signposted and many help desks are available where staff can help you in case you are lost.Scan the barcode on each individual paper ticket or e-ticket at the ticket gates. Then, youll join the luggage check, which is identical to what you have at the airport. After that, youll enter a queue for passport inspections.EU passengers can use electronic gates if they have an e-passport. We recommend using these as they speed up the check-in process. Non-EU passengers (including UK citizens) will need to join the queue to get their passports stamped before leaving the country.Depending on the train's departure time, check-in can take as little as 15 minutes, but can take up to 30 minutes at peak times.You wont be bored at London St Pancras International station! Here, youll find plenty of shops, cafs, restaurants and more:A variety of shopsA range of bars and restaurants like Prime Burger and Yo! SushiCafs such as Costa Coffee and StarbucksA bureau de change International Currency Exchange (ICE)Eurostar ticket office, as well as self-service ticket machines and a Eurostar Assist desk for those who need help getting to the trainExcess Baggage Co luggage service facilitiesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesA Click & Park car parkOnce youve gone through check-in, you wont be able to get back into London St Pancras (its like airport security). But dont worry! After security, theres a waiting area Eurostars Departure Lounge. You will find the following in the Eurostar Departure Lounge:The Station Pantry a cosmopolitan caf where you can enjoy a wide range of snacks and drinksA tax-free shopShops and cafsCash machinesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesFree WiFiCurrency exchange.If youre looking for the Business Premier Lounge, youll find the entrance on the right-hand side of the concourse. First Class Lounge access is only for Business Premier travellers and Eurostar Carte Blanche holders. Here, youll get to enjoy-Comfortable seating for working or relaxingFree WiFiSpacious meeting areasA variety of snacks and drinks at two self-service barsA wide selection of newspapers and magazinesSeat-side plug sockets 2 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase3 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase1 piece of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. backpack or laptop bagTrains from London to Brussels do go underwater. In fact, the Channel Tunnel (or Chunnel if you prefer its nickname) is just over 31 miles (50 km) in length and is the longest continuous underwater tunnel in the world. At a maximum speed of 100 mph (160 km/h) in the Chunnel, it takes a Eurostar train around 35 minutes to travel this underwater stretch.How long is the Chunnel?In length, the Channel Tunnel is 31.3 miles (50.56 km) and it takes a Eurostar train approximately 35 minutes to travel its full length. In total, the fastest journey time from London to Brussels is 1 hour and 56 minutes.Your Eurostar train from London will arrive in Brussels atBruxelles-Miditrain station (also known as Brussel-Zuid). As you go through security and passport control in London, you simply have to grab your luggage and get off the train once youre here.The final leg of your journey to Frankfurt involvescatching a train from Brussels to Frankfurt Maintrain station. You wont need to change stations, as trains to Frankfurt also depart from Bruxelles-Midi.Youll probably have a bit of time to spare in between your trains. Luckily, Bruxelles-Midi train station has plenty of amenities if you need to grab a quick bite to eat or fancy doing a little shopping.When you buy your train tickets with Trainline, all the information you need about your journey is saved in ourapp, so youll know exactly how much time you have until your next train. Your ticket will also display the number of the train youll be traveling on (such as ICE 15) this is what youll need to look out for on the departure boards to make sure youre getting the right train.Once youve arrived at Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof, you can get off the train and start exploring straight away! There are no passport or security checks as you will have already been through these to enter the EU at the very beginning of your trip.Frankfurt Main station has various amenities which may be helpful to you when you arrive in Germany, including:ToiletsA travel loungeLeft luggage lockersFree WiFiA pharmacyShops and food outlets including McDonalds, Starbucks and Pret A Manger.Frankfurt has an extensive public transport system which includes a metro, buses and trams. If youre looking to start your sightseeing as soon as you leave the train station, heres a list of the public transport options available.U-Bahn:Lines U4 and U5 of the U-Bahn (the citys underground transport system) stop at Frankfurt Main station.S-Bahn:Lines S1, S2, S3, S4, S5, S6, S7, S8 and S9 of the S-Bahn (the citys commuter railway) serve Frankfurts central train station.Buses:Bus routes 33, 37, 64, M46, N11, N12, N16, N4, N5, RE70, S6E, S6X and S7E serve Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof.Trams:Trams 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 serve the citys train station.Head to a museum:If youre looking to get your culture fix while travelling, look no further than Frankfurt! The 39 (yes, you read that right!) museums spread across both banks of the River Main are sure to keep you busy theres something for everyone!Visit the Rmer:Discover Frankfurts beautiful architecture and take a trip to the Rmer (City Hall). The City Hall is still used today and has stood the test of time, with the first records of its use dating back to 1405!Enjoy a breath of fresh air:Fancy immersing yourself in nature while in Frankfurt? Visit the citys Palmengarten, which boasts a number of greenhouses which are home to a variety of plants and insects from around the world.If youre still looking for travel inspiration, dont forget to check out our ultimate guide on things to do in Frankfurt.Once youve finished exploring Frankfurt, why not continue exploring Europe by train? With an Interrail Pass, you can travel across 33 European countries as much as you want on participating European train networks for a set amount of travel days.If youre a European citizen or a non-European who is an official legal resident of a European country, you can use an Interrail Pass. If youre an American or Canadian citizen, you can use a Eurail Pass instead. You can travel from Frankfurt city centre to Frankfurt Airport easily by taking the train. Hop on a train at Frankfurt Main station and in 10 15 minutes, youll be at the airport.You can look at times and prices, as well as book your tickets to Frankfurt Airport, using our Journey Planner at the top of the page or by starting a search in our app.Getting to Frankfurt Airport by public transportIf youd prefer, its also easy to travel to Frankfurt Airport on either the bus or the S-Bahn. Depending on where youre coming from in the city centre, this may be easier than taking the train.S-Bahn lines S8 and S9 stop at Frankfurt Airport.Buses 58, 61, 62, 67, 72, 73, 82, AIR, ICE, OF, 64, X15, X17, X19, X53, X58, X61 and N72 serve Frankfurt Airport.Head from Frankfurt to ParisIts easy to travel from Frankfurt to Paris with Deutsche Bahn. The train leaves from Frankfurt Main station and it can take under 5 hours to get to Paris Gare de lEst station. Whats more, theres no waiting around for your luggage once youve arrived you can just grab your bags and go!Board a train to Berlin!If youre looking to explore more of Germany by train, why not head from Frankfurt to Berlin? DB and Flixtrain trains run directly from Frankfurt to Berlin in around 4 hours. Plus, theres no need to wait around at the airport for hours before boarding simply turn up at Frankfurt Main station and hop on the train!Speed away to BrusselsWant to visit another of Europes bustling capitals? Brussels might be the place for you. Home to beer, waffles, fries and much more, theres plenty to see and do in the Belgian capital.The journey from Frankfurt to Brussels can take just over 3 hours on the fastest DB services, which means less time spent waiting around and more time to explore! So, what are you waiting for?Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTrain trips from Frankfurt to LondonWorking out your travel plans from Frankfurt to London? Consider taking the train instead of hopping on the plane. You can reach London from Frankfurt in over six hours with one change. The perks? Youll be transported from the centre of one city to the heart of the other. Theres no need to trek to airports on the outskirts of the city, and you can simply sink into comfy seats and enjoy the countryside views along the way. Plus youll get to say youve been on an underwater train as the Eurostar crosses through the Channel Tunnel into the UK. Hop off at London St. Pancras and youre just a short stroll from plenty of bars and restaurants in the lively Kings Cross area. From here, you can get many London underground lines or frequent bus service for city-wide exploration. Ready to book? Check for train tickets and times in our Journey Planner at the top of the page, or keep reading to learn more about the Frankfurt to London route by scrolling down.How do I get from Frankfurt (Main) to London?You can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London by train in about 9 hours and 15 minutes. With around 15 trains running each day, taking the train is easy. If youre looking for other options, you can also catch the bus from Frankfurt (Main) to London. Find out more in our Journey Planner.How long is the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London?On average, the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London takes around 9 hours and 15 minutes, with 15 trains per day. The duration may vary slightly depending on the specific train and any potential delays. Use our Journey Planner to check out more information.How much is the train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?Train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London start from as little as 106.99, depending on the time of booking, class of service and type of train. Booking in advance often results in cheaper prices.What is the fastest train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?The fastest trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London can cover the distance of 393 miles (633 km) in as little as 6 hours and 0 minutes.No, you cant travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London on a direct train, youll need to make at least 1 change during the journey.The distance from Frankfurt (Main) to London is around 393 miles (633 km). When you travel between them by train, the fastest journey time takes 6 hours and 0 minutes. Yes, you can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London without flying. Take the train and enjoy a fast and comfortable journey. There are around 15 trains per day available on the route. The fastest train can take you there in 6 hours and 0 minutes!The best way to get from Frankfurt (Main) to London is by taking a train. Trains offer a quick, comfortable journey taking just 6 hours and 0 minutes on the quickest services, with frequent departures throughout the day. The first train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 06:27 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.The last train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 22:15 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.Trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London run frequently throughout the day, with approximately 15 trains available per day. Check our Journey Planner to see the full timetable.Depending on the operator, train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London usually go on sale between three and six months before the date of travel. Booking in advance often means youll find cheaper prices and more availability.For a return trip from Frankfurt (Main) to London, simply book a round-trip ticket or two one-way tickets. Many train companies offer return trip discounts, making it convenient to travel by train. If youre looking for the return train journey, check out trains from London to Frankfurt (Main).We help customers across Europe make more than 172,000 smarter journeys every day.Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTravel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 5 hours 27 minutesIf you want to know more about the journey from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train, look no further! The average journey time from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train is 8 hours 9 minutes, although on the fastest services it can take just 5 hours 27 minutes. Around 11 trains per day travel the 393 miles (633 km) between these two destinations. Youll need to make 1 change along the way to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Book train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf in advance instead of buying them on the day and they can start from 102.99. We'll always highlight the cheapest prices when you search in our Journey Planner. Ready to book? Start your search for cheap train tickets with us today. Keep reading for more information, including our timetable where you can view first and last train times, as well as tips on how to find cheap train tickets. How do I travel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf?You can get from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 8 hours and 9 minutes on average, with the fastest journeys taking just 5 hours and 27 minutes. You can also take the bus from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Check out our Journey Planner for more details.How long does the train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf take?The average journey time by train between London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf is 8 hours and 9 minutes, with around 11 trains per day running on this route. The journey time may be longer on weekends and holidays, so use our Journey Planner on this page to search for a specific travel date.How much does the train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf cost?Train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf can start from as little as 102.99 when you book in advance and are usually more expensive when purchased on the day. Prices can also vary depending on the time of day, route and class you book.What's the fastest journey time between London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train?The fastest journey time by train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf is 5 hours and 27 minutes.No, there are no direct train services from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Travelling from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train will require a minimum of 1 change.London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf are around 393 miles (633 km) apart. The fastest trains can cover this distance in approximately 5 hours and 27 minutes. Yes, travelling from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf without flying is possible. With around 11 trains running each day, youll be there in no time - the fastest ones will get you to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf in 5 hours and 27 minutes! Check our Journey Planner for more details.To travel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf, we think the best way is to take the train! Trains are comfortable and train journeys on this route take around 8 hours and 9 minutes, with the fastest trains taking 5 hours and 27 minutes - take a look at our Journey Planner for more information.The first train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf leaves at 06:16. Times and services may vary during weekends and holidays. Use our Journey Planner to check the timetable on your day of travel.The last train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf leaves at 20:01. Trains that depart in the early morning hours or very late evening may be sleeper services. Times and services may also vary during weekends and holidays.Trains from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf run frequently throughout the day, with around 11 trains available daily. Use our Journey Planner to check the full timetable.Like most fares in Europe, you can usually buy train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf between three and six months ahead of time. We recommend buying in advance for cheaper prices and increased availability. However, some operators and routes have same day tickets available.We help customers across Europe make more than 172,000 smarter journeys every day.

London St. Pancras International station is conveniently located in central London in the Kings Cross area and can be easily reached by National Rail, London Underground, bus services and car.Kings Cross St Pancras Underground station is served by 6 Tube lines: Victoria (light blue line), Northern (black line), Metropolitan (purple line), Piccadilly (dark blue line), Circle (yellow line) & Hammersmith and City (pink line).If youre travelling into London by train, you can get to London St Pancras from Euston, Victoria, and Paddington stations in around half an hour.If youre driving to St Pancras International, youll find a Click and Park car park at the station it has 315 spaces and is always open, with staff on hand 24/7. If youre cycling to the station, there are plenty of cycle spaces where you can store your bike too. Standard & Standard PremierBusiness Premieraccessible travelHow far ahead of time do you need to arrive?90 minutes45 - 60 minutes60 - 75 minutesHow far ahead of time does the gate close?30 minutes15 minutes30 minutesWhen you arrive at London St Pancras International station, youll find the Eurostar check-in gates in the middle of the station, on the main concourse. The gates are clearly signposted and many help desks are available where staff can help you in case you are lost.Scan the barcode on each individual paper ticket or e-ticket at the ticket gates. Then, youll join the luggage check, which is identical to what you have at the airport. After that, youll enter a queue for passport inspections.EU passengers can use electronic gates if they have an e-passport. We recommend using these as they speed up the check-in process. Non-EU passengers (including UK citizens) will need to join the queue to get their passports stamped before leaving the country.Depending on the train's departure time, check-in can take as little as 15 minutes, but can take up to 30 minutes at peak times.You wont be bored at London St Pancras International station! Here, youll find plenty of shops, cafs, restaurants and more:A variety of shopsA range of bars and restaurants like Prime Burger and Yo! SushiCafs such as Costa Coffee and StarbucksA bureau de change International Currency Exchange (ICE)Eurostar ticket office, as well as self-service ticket machines and a Eurostar Assist desk for those who need help getting to the trainExcess Baggage Co luggage service facilitiesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesA Click & Park car parkOnce youve gone through check-in, you wont be able to get back into London St Pancras (its like airport security). But dont worry! After security, theres a waiting area Eurostars Departure Lounge. You will find the following in the Eurostar Departure Lounge:The Station Pantry a cosmopolitan caf where you can enjoy a wide range of snacks and drinksA tax-free shopShops and cafsCash machinesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesFree WiFiCurrency exchange.If youre looking for the Business Premier Lounge, youll find the entrance on the right-hand side of the concourse. First Class Lounge access is only for Business Premier travellers and Eurostar Carte Blanche holders. Here, youll get to enjoy-Comfortable seating for working or relaxingFree WiFiSpacious meeting areasA variety of snacks and drinks at two self-service barsA wide selection of newspapers and magazinesSeat-side plug sockets 2 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase3 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase1 piece of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. backpack or laptop bagTrains from London to Brussels do go underwater. In fact, the Channel Tunnel (or Chunnel if you prefer its nickname) is just over 31 miles (50 km) in length and is the longest continuous underwater tunnel in the world. At a maximum speed of 100 mph (160 km/h) in the Chunnel, it takes a Eurostar train around 35 minutes to travel this underwater stretch.How long is the Chunnel?In length, the Channel Tunnel is 31.3 miles (50.56 km) and it takes a Eurostar train approximately 35 minutes to travel its full length. In total, the fastest journey time from London to Brussels is 1 hour and 56 minutes.Your Eurostar train from London will arrive in Brussels atBruxelles-Miditrain station (also known as Brussel-Zuid). As you go through security and passport control in London, you simply have to grab your luggage and get off the train once youre here.The final leg of your journey to Frankfurt involvescatching a train from Brussels to Frankfurt Maintrain station. You wont need to change stations, as trains to Frankfurt also depart from Bruxelles-Midi.Youll probably have a bit of time to spare in between your trains. Luckily, Bruxelles-Midi train station has plenty of amenities if you need to grab a quick bite to eat or fancy doing a little shopping.When you buy your train tickets with Trainline, all the information you need about your journey is saved in ourapp, so youll know exactly how much time you have until your next train. Your ticket will also display the number of the train youll be traveling on (such as ICE 15) this is what youll need to look out for on the departure boards to make sure youre getting the right train.Once youve arrived at Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof, you can get off the train and start exploring straight away! There are no passport or security checks as you will have already been through these to enter the EU at the very beginning of your trip.Frankfurt Main station has various amenities which may be helpful to you when you arrive in Germany, including:ToiletsA travel loungeLeft luggage lockersFree WiFiA pharmacyShops and food outlets including McDonalds, Starbucks and Pret A Manger.Frankfurt has an extensive public transport system which includes a metro, buses and trams. If youre looking to start your sightseeing as soon as you leave the train station, heres a list of the public transport options available.U-Bahn:Lines U4 and U5 of the U-Bahn (the citys underground transport system) stop at Frankfurt Main station.S-Bahn:Lines S1, S2, S3, S4, S5, S6, S7, S8 and S9 of the S-Bahn (the citys commuter railway) serve Frankfurts central train station.Buses:Bus routes 33, 37, 64, M46, N11, N12, N16, N4, N5, RE70, S6E, S6X and S7E serve Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof.Trams:Trams 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 serve the citys train station.Head to a museum:If youre looking to get your culture fix while travelling, look no further than Frankfurt! The 39 (yes, you read that right!) museums spread across both banks of the River Main are sure to keep you busy theres something for everyone!Visit the Rmer:Discover Frankfurts beautiful architecture and take a trip to the Rmer (City Hall). The City Hall is still used today and has stood the test of time, with the first records of its use dating back to 1405!Enjoy a breath of fresh air:Fancy immersing yourself in nature while in Frankfurt? Visit the citys Palmengarten, which boasts a number of greenhouses which are home to a variety of plants and insects from around the world.If youre still looking for travel inspiration, dont forget to check out our ultimate guide on things to do in Frankfurt.Once youve finished exploring Frankfurt, why not continue exploring Europe by train? With an Interrail Pass, you can travel across 33 European countries as much as you want on participating European train networks for a set amount of travel days.If youre a European citizen or a non-European who is an official legal resident of a European country, you can use an Interrail Pass. If youre an American or Canadian citizen, you can use a Eurail Pass instead. You can travel from Frankfurt city centre to Frankfurt Airport easily by taking the train. Hop on a train at Frankfurt Main station and in 10 15 minutes, youll be at the airport.You can look at times and prices, as well as book your tickets to Frankfurt Airport, using our Journey Planner at the top of the page or by starting a search in our app.Getting to Frankfurt Airport by public transportIf youd prefer, its also easy to travel to Frankfurt Airport on either the bus or the S-Bahn. Depending on where youre coming from in the city centre, this may be easier than taking the train.S-Bahn lines S8 and S9 stop at Frankfurt Airport.Buses 58, 61, 62, 67, 72, 73, 82, AIR, ICE, OF, 64, X15, X17, X19, X53, X58, X61 and N72 serve Frankfurt Airport.Head from Frankfurt to ParisIts easy to travel from Frankfurt to Paris with Deutsche Bahn. The train leaves from Frankfurt Main station and it can take under 5 hours to get to Paris Gare de lEst station. Whats more, theres no waiting around for your luggage once youve arrived you can just grab your bags and go!Board a train to Berlin!If youre looking to explore more of Germany by train, why not head from Frankfurt to Berlin? DB and Flixtrain trains run directly from Frankfurt to Berlin in around 4 hours. Plus, theres no need to wait around at the airport for hours before boarding simply turn up at Frankfurt Main station and hop on the train!Speed away to BrusselsWant to visit another of Europes bustling capitals? Brussels might be the place for you. Home to beer, waffles, fries and much more, theres plenty to see and do in the Belgian capital.The journey from Frankfurt to Brussels can take just over 3 hours on the fastest DB services, which means less time spent waiting around and more time to explore! So, what are you waiting for?Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTrain trips from Frankfurt to LondonWorking out your travel plans from Frankfurt to London? Consider taking the train instead of hopping on the plane. You can reach London from Frankfurt in over six hours with one change. The perks? Youll be transported from the centre of one city to the heart of the other. Theres no need to trek to airports on the outskirts of the city, and you can simply sink into comfy seats and enjoy the countryside views along the way. Plus youll get to say youve been on an underwater train as the Eurostar crosses through the Channel Tunnel into the UK. Hop off at London St. Pancras and youre just a short stroll from plenty of bars and restaurants in the lively Kings Cross area. From here, you can get many London underground lines or frequent bus service for city-wide exploration. Ready to book? Check for train tickets and times in our Journey Planner at the top of the page, or keep reading to learn more about the Frankfurt to London route by scrolling down.How do I get from Frankfurt (Main) to London?You can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London by train in about 9 hours and 15 minutes. With around 15 trains running each day, taking the train is easy. If youre looking for other options, you can also catch the bus from Frankfurt (Main) to London. Find out more in our Journey Planner.How long is the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London?On average, the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London takes around 9 hours and 15 minutes, with 15 trains per day. The duration may vary slightly depending on the specific train and any potential delays. Use our Journey Planner to check out more information.How much is the train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?Train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London start from as little as 106.99, depending on the time of booking, class of service and type of train. Booking in advance often results in cheaper prices.What is the fastest train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?The fastest trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London can cover the distance of 393 miles (633 km) in as little as 6 hours and 0 minutes.No, you cant travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London on a direct train, youll need to make at least 1 change during the journey.The distance from Frankfurt (Main) to London is around 393 miles (633 km). When you travel between them by train, the fastest journey time takes 6 hours and 0 minutes. Yes, you can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London without flying. Take the train and enjoy a fast and comfortable journey. There are around 15 trains per day available on the route. The fastest train can take you there in 6 hours and 0 minutes!The best way to get from Frankfurt (Main) to London is by taking a train. Trains offer a quick, comfortable journey taking just 6 hours and 0 minutes on the quickest services, with frequent departures throughout the day. The first train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 06:27 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.The last train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 22:15 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.Trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London run frequently throughout the day, with approximately 15 trains available per day. Check our Journey Planner to see the full timetable.Depending on the operator, train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London usually go on sale between three and six months before the date of travel. Booking in advance often means youll find cheaper prices and more availability.For a return trip from Frankfurt (Main) to London, simply book a round-trip ticket or two one-way tickets. Many train companies offer return trip discounts, making it convenient to travel by train. If youre looking for the return train journey, check out trains from London to Frankfurt (Main).We help customers across Europe make more than 172,000 smarter journeys every day.Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTravel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 5 hours 27 minutesIf you want to know more about the journey from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train, look no further! The average journey time from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train is 8 hours 9 minutes, although on the fastest services it can take just 5 hours 27 minutes. Around 11 trains per day travel the 393 miles (633 km) between these two destinations. Youll need to make 1 change along the way to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Book train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf in advance instead of buying them on the day and they can start from 102.99. We'll always highlight the cheapest prices when you search in our Journey Planner. Ready to book? Start your search for cheap train tickets with us today. Keep reading for more information, including our timetable where you can view first and last train times, as well as tips on how to find cheap train tickets. How do I travel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf?You can get from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 8 hours and 9 minutes on average, with the fastest journeys taking just 5 hours and 27 minutes. You can also take the bus from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Check out our Journey Planner for more details.How long does the train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf take?The average journey time by train between London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf is 8 hours and 9 minutes, with around 11 trains per day running on this route. The journey time may be longer on weekends and holidays, so use our Journey Planner on this page to search for a specific travel date.How much does the train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf cost?Train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf can start from as little as 102.99 when you book in advance and are usually more expensive when purchased on the day. Prices can also vary depending on the time of day, route and class you book.What's the fastest journey time between London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train?The fastest journey time by train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf is 5 hours and 27 minutes.No, there are no direct train services from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Travelling from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train will require a minimum of 1 change.London and Frankfurt (Main) Hbf are around 393 miles (633 km) apart. The fastest trains can cover this distance in approximately 5 hours and 27 minutes. Yes, travelling from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf without flying is possible. With around 11 trains running each day, youll be there in no time - the fastest ones will get you to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf in 5 hours and 27 minutes! Check our Journey Planner for more details.To travel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf, we think the best way is to take the train! Trains are comfortable and train journeys on this route take around 8 hours and 9 minutes, with the fastest trains taking 5 hours and 27 minutes - take a look at our Journey Planner for more information.The first train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf leaves at 06:16. Times and services may vary during weekends and holidays. Use our Journey Planner to check the timetable on your day of travel.The last train from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf leaves at 20:01. Trains that depart in the early morning hours or very late evening may be sleeper services. Times and services may also vary during weekends and holidays.Trains from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf run frequently throughout the day, with around 11 trains available daily. Use our Journey Planner to check the full timetable.Like most fares in Europe, you can usually buy train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf between three and six months ahead of time. We recommend buying in advance for cheaper prices and increased availability. However, some operators and routes have same day tickets available.We help customers across Europe make more than 172,000 smarter journeys every day.

London St. Pancras International station is conveniently located in central London in the Kings Cross area and can be easily reached by National Rail, London Underground, bus services and car.Kings Cross St Pancras Underground station is served by 6 Tube lines: Victoria (light blue line), Northern (black line), Metropolitan (purple line), Piccadilly (dark blue line), Circle (yellow line) & Hammersmith and City (pink line).If youre travelling into London by train, you can get to London St Pancras from Euston, Victoria, and Paddington stations in around half an hour.If youre driving to St Pancras International, youll find a Click and Park car park at the station it has 315 spaces and is always open, with staff on hand 24/7. If youre cycling to the station, there are plenty of cycle spaces where you can store your bike too. Standard & Standard PremierBusiness Premieraccessible travelHow far ahead of time do you need to arrive?90 minutes45 - 60 minutes60 - 75 minutesHow far ahead of time does the gate close?30 minutes15 minutes30 minutesWhen you arrive at London St Pancras International station, youll find the Eurostar check-in gates in the middle of the station, on the main concourse. The gates are clearly signposted and many help desks are available where staff can help you in case you are lost.Scan the barcode on each individual paper ticket or e-ticket at the ticket gates. Then, youll join the luggage check, which is identical to what you have at the airport. After that, youll enter a queue for passport inspections.EU passengers can use electronic gates if they have an e-passport. We recommend using these as they speed up the check-in process. Non-EU passengers (including UK citizens) will need to join the queue to get their passports stamped before leaving the country.Depending on the train's departure time, check-in can take as little as 15 minutes, but can take up to 30 minutes at peak times.You wont be bored at London St Pancras International station! Here, youll find plenty of shops, cafs, restaurants and more:A variety of shopsA range of bars and restaurants like Prime Burger and Yo! SushiCafs such as Costa Coffee and StarbucksA bureau de change International Currency Exchange (ICE)Eurostar ticket office, as well as self-service ticket machines and a Eurostar Assist desk for those who need help getting to the trainExcess Baggage Co luggage service facilitiesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesA Click & Park car parkOnce youve gone through check-in, you wont be able to get back into London St Pancras (its like airport security). But dont worry! After security, theres a waiting area Eurostars Departure Lounge. You will find the following in the Eurostar Departure Lounge:The Station Pantry a cosmopolitan caf where you can enjoy a wide range of snacks and drinksA tax-free shopShops and cafsCash machinesToilets with baby-changing facilitiesFree WiFiCurrency exchange.If youre looking for the Business Premier Lounge, youll find the entrance on the right-hand side of the concourse. First Class Lounge access is only for Business Premier travellers and Eurostar Carte Blanche holders. Here, youll get to enjoy-Comfortable seating for working or relaxingFree WiFiSpacious meeting areasA variety of snacks and drinks at two self-service barsA wide selection of newspapers and magazinesSeat-side plug sockets 2 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase3 pieces of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. handbag, laptop bag or briefcase1 piece of luggage up to 85cm (33.4 inches) long1 carry-on bag, e.g. backpack or laptop bagTrains from London to Brussels do go underwater. In fact, the Channel Tunnel (or Chunnel if you prefer its nickname) is just over 31 miles (50 km) in length and is the longest continuous underwater tunnel in the world. At a maximum speed of 100 mph (160 km/h) in the Chunnel, it takes a Eurostar train around 35 minutes to travel this underwater stretch.How long is the Chunnel?In length, the Channel Tunnel is 31.3 miles (50.56 km) and it takes a Eurostar train approximately 35 minutes to travel its full length. In total, the fastest journey time from London to Brussels is 1 hour and 56 minutes.Your Eurostar train from London will arrive in Brussels atBruxelles-Miditrain station (also known as Brussel-Zuid). As you go through security and passport control in London, you simply have to grab your luggage and get off the train once youre here.The final leg of your journey to Frankfurt involvescatching a train from Brussels to Frankfurt Maintrain station. You wont need to change stations, as trains to Frankfurt also depart from Bruxelles-Midi.Youll probably have a bit of time to spare in between your trains. Luckily, Bruxelles-Midi train station has plenty of amenities if you need to grab a quick bite to eat or fancy doing a little shopping.When you buy your train tickets with Trainline, all the information you need about your journey is saved in ourapp, so youll know exactly how much time you have until your next train. Your ticket will also display the number of the train youll be traveling on (such as ICE 15) this is what youll need to look out for on the departure boards to make sure youre getting the right train.Once youve arrived at Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof, you can get off the train and start exploring straight away! There are no passport or security checks as you will have already been through these to enter the EU at the very beginning of your trip.Frankfurt Main station has various amenities which may be helpful to you when you arrive in Germany, including:ToiletsA travel loungeLeft luggage lockersFree WiFiA pharmacyShops and food outlets including McDonalds, Starbucks and Pret A Manger.Frankfurt has an extensive public transport system which includes a metro, buses and trams. If youre looking to start your sightseeing as soon as you leave the train station, heres a list of the public transport options available.U-Bahn:Lines U4 and U5 of the U-Bahn (the citys underground transport system) stop at Frankfurt Main station.S-Bahn:Lines S1, S2, S3, S4, S5, S6, S7, S8 and S9 of the S-Bahn (the citys commuter railway) serve Frankfurts central train station.Buses:Bus routes 33, 37, 64, M46, N11, N12, N16, N4, N5, RE70, S6E, S6X and S7E serve Frankfurt Hauptbahnhof.Trams:Trams 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 serve the citys train station.Head to a museum:If youre looking to get your culture fix while travelling, look no further than Frankfurt! The 39 (yes, you read that right!) museums spread across both banks of the River Main are sure to keep you busy theres something for everyone!Visit the Rmer:Discover Frankfurts beautiful architecture and take a trip to the Rmer (City Hall). The City Hall is still used today and has stood the test of time, with the first records of its use dating back to 1405!Enjoy a breath of fresh air:Fancy immersing yourself in nature while in Frankfurt? Visit the citys Palmengarten, which boasts a number of greenhouses which are home to a variety of plants and insects from around the world.If youre still looking for travel inspiration, dont forget to check out our ultimate guide on things to do in Frankfurt.Once youve finished exploring Frankfurt, why not continue exploring Europe by train? With an Interrail Pass, you can travel across 33 European countries as much as you want on participating European train networks for a set amount of travel days.If youre a European citizen or a non-European who is an official legal resident of a European country, you can use an Interrail Pass. If youre an American or Canadian citizen, you can use a Eurail Pass instead. You can travel from Frankfurt city centre to Frankfurt Airport easily by taking the train. Hop on a train at Frankfurt Main station and in 10 15 minutes, youll be at the airport.You can look at times and prices, as well as book your tickets to Frankfurt Airport, using our Journey Planner at the top of the page or by starting a search in our app.Getting to Frankfurt Airport by public transportIf youd prefer, its also easy to travel to Frankfurt Airport on either the bus or the S-Bahn. Depending on where youre coming from in the city centre, this may be easier than taking the train.S-Bahn lines S8 and S9 stop at Frankfurt Airport.Buses 58, 61, 62, 67, 72, 73, 82, AIR, ICE, OF, 64, X15, X17, X19, X53, X58, X61 and N72 serve Frankfurt Airport.Head from Frankfurt to ParisIts easy to travel from Frankfurt to Paris with Deutsche Bahn. The train leaves from Frankfurt Main station and it can take under 5 hours to get to Paris Gare de lEst station. Whats more, theres no waiting around for your luggage once youve arrived you can just grab your bags and go!Board a train to Berlin!If youre looking to explore more of Germany by train, why not head from Frankfurt to Berlin? DB and Flixtrain trains run directly from Frankfurt to Berlin in around 4 hours. Plus, theres no need to wait around at the airport for hours before boarding simply turn up at Frankfurt Main station and hop on the train!Speed away to BrusselsWant to visit another of Europes bustling capitals? Brussels might be the place for you. Home to beer, waffles, fries and much more, theres plenty to see and do in the Belgian capital.The journey from Frankfurt to Brussels can take just over 3 hours on the fastest DB services, which means less time spent waiting around and more time to explore! So, what are you waiting for?Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTrain trips from Frankfurt to LondonWorking out your travel plans from Frankfurt to London? Consider taking the train instead of hopping on the plane. You can reach London from Frankfurt in over six hours with one change. The perks? Youll be transported from the centre of one city to the heart of the other. Theres no need to trek to airports on the outskirts of the city, and you can simply sink into comfy seats and enjoy the countryside views along the way. Plus youll get to say youve been on an underwater train as the Eurostar crosses through the Channel Tunnel into the UK. Hop off at London St. Pancras and youre just a short stroll from plenty of bars and restaurants in the lively Kings Cross area. From here, you can get many London underground lines or frequent bus service for city-wide exploration. Ready to book? Check for train tickets and times in our Journey Planner at the top of the page, or keep reading to learn more about the Frankfurt to London route by scrolling down.How do I get from Frankfurt (Main) to London?You can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London by train in about 9 hours and 15 minutes. With around 15 trains running each day, taking the train is easy. If youre looking for other options, you can also catch the bus from Frankfurt (Main) to London. Find out more in our Journey Planner.How long is the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London?On average, the train journey from Frankfurt (Main) to London takes around 9 hours and 15 minutes, with 15 trains per day. The duration may vary slightly depending on the specific train and any potential delays. Use our Journey Planner to check out more information.How much is the train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?Train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London start from as little as 106.99, depending on the time of booking, class of service and type of train. Booking in advance often results in cheaper prices.What is the fastest train from Frankfurt (Main) to London?The fastest trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London can cover the distance of 393 miles (633 km) in as little as 6 hours and 0 minutes.No, you cant travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London on a direct train, youll need to make at least 1 change during the journey.The distance from Frankfurt (Main) to London is around 393 miles (633 km). When you travel between them by train, the fastest journey time takes 6 hours and 0 minutes. Yes, you can travel from Frankfurt (Main) to London without flying. Take the train and enjoy a fast and comfortable journey. There are around 15 trains per day available on the route. The fastest train can take you there in 6 hours and 0 minutes!The best way to get from Frankfurt (Main) to London is by taking a train. Trains offer a quick, comfortable journey taking just 6 hours and 0 minutes on the quickest services, with frequent departures throughout the day. The first train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 06:27 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.The last train from Frankfurt (Main) to London departs around 22:15 depending on the day and the train operator. It's always best to check the timetable on the day of travel with our Journey Planner for exact times.Trains from Frankfurt (Main) to London run frequently throughout the day, with approximately 15 trains available per day. Check our Journey Planner to see the full timetable.Depending on the operator, train tickets from Frankfurt (Main) to London usually go on sale between three and six months before the date of travel. Booking in advance often means youll find cheaper prices and more availability.For a return trip from Frankfurt (Main) to London, simply book a round-trip ticket or two one-way tickets. Many train companies offer return trip discounts, making it convenient to travel by train. If youre looking for the return train journey, check out trains from London to Frankfurt (Main).We help customers across Europe make more than 172,000 smarter journeys every day.Trainline is Europes leading platform for train and bus ticketsCompare prices from over 270 rail and coach companies in EuropeBuy your tickets with us and easily find them on your phoneSafely pay with PayPal, Visa and all international payment cardsWithin 7 daysOutbound fromWithin 1 monthOutbound fromWithin 3 monthsOutbound fromLow prices found by our customersEach fare is the lowest adult economy ticket fare found by our customers on Trainline. Fares booked further in advance than the dates displayed may be cheaper. Prices are updated daily, subject to change and indicative of price last update. Limited availability. Discount cards and coach journeys excluded, prices exclusive of booking fee.Read real reviews from real usersTravel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 5 hours 27 minutesIf you want to know more about the journey from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train, look no further! The average journey time from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train is 8 hours 9 minutes, although on the fastest services it can take just 5 hours 27 minutes. Around 11 trains per day travel the 393 miles (633 km) between these two destinations. Youll need to make 1 change along the way to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf. Book train tickets from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf in advance instead of buying them on the day and they can start from 102.99. We'll always highlight the cheapest prices when you search in our Journey Planner. Ready to book? Start your search for cheap train tickets with us today. Keep reading for more information, including our timetable where you can view first and last train times, as well as tips on how to find cheap train tickets. How do I travel from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf?You can get from London to Frankfurt (Main) Hbf by train in 8 hours and 9 minutes on average, with the fastest journeys