

Continue

Nextech pm login

NexTech stands out among national staffing firms by offering tailored recruitment services that meet clients' specific needs. With a proven track record of successful placements across 25+ states, we demonstrate our capability to recruit nationwide. Our approach focuses on matching the best candidate with the position, rather than forcing consultants into a client's need. This personalized service has earned us strong relationships with our clients and a reputation for honesty and hard work. NexTech Solutions specializes in placing contract and permanent employees in Technology, Marketing, and Accounting/Finance fields. With offices in six locations across the country, we've been chosen by some of the largest corporations to provide staffing services. Since 1999, we've established ourselves as trusted partners for Fortune 500 companies and numerous smaller businesses. Our team boasts over 100 years of combined experience in the industry and has successfully placed thousands of consultants. Chris, with 20+ years of expertise, has helped build NexTech into a nationally respected firm. Helen, our Business Development Manager, has 35+ years of business experience, including 10+ years in recruiting/staffing. Other key team members include: * Greg, a trusted advisor with a proven history of connecting high-performing teams with exceptional technical talent. * Christine, who brings over 12 years of sales experience and focuses on building strong relationships with our largest clients. * Zach, an accomplished Account Manager with multiple years in the staffing industry, who handles some of our largest accounts. * Paul, born and raised in Memphis, TN, with over 15 years of professional experience in Staffing and a unique ability to staff IT positions quickly. He takes pride in doing things right from the start and genuinely enjoys helping candidates achieve their career goals. As a devoted husband and father of three boys, he's also a proud owner of a St. Berdoodle. With over 15 years of experience connecting job seekers with employers, his aim is to make a positive impact on everyone he serves. The NexTech team thrives in finding innovative solutions for their clients' staffing needs. Amy brings over 18 years of technical recruitment expertise, allowing her to understand clients' business objectives and hiring requirements. This insight enables her to successfully onboard top talent that meets their needs. She's a relationship builder who enjoys engaging with people from diverse backgrounds. Hunter is a native Midsouth resident and former Army veteran, new to the world of technical recruiting. He prides himself on being a problem solver who relishes challenges of all kinds. As a recent addition to NexTech, he's excited to aid both candidates and client organizations in reaching their goals. Elizabeth is a Memphis native with extensive marketing experience in corporate and non-profit sectors. Her background has expanded NexTech's reach to include recruiting for marketing and communications positions at various levels. She thrives on finding the perfect fit between candidates and clients, and enjoys exploring Memphis' culinary scene outside of work. Their team leader comes with 15 years of experience in technology staffing sales and services. He emphasizes building positive relationships within a supportive work environment, coaching industry standards, and mentoring successful teams to ensure customer satisfaction. Nextech's Practice Management Solution offers several features to streamline clinical operations and improve efficiency. The "First available appointment finder" tool allows patients to quickly locate a suitable appointment time, reducing administrative burdens on office staff. This feature is designed to accommodate the unique needs of individual physicians and multispecialty practices. The billing process is also simplified through Nextech's intuitive system, which aims to minimize rejected claims and associated delays in cash flow. The "Intuitive ICD-10 coding assisted solution" helps ensure accuracy in coding and increases the number of clean claims submitted. Integration with electronic health records (EHRs) is a key benefit, offering e-prescribing capabilities and integration with Prescription Drug Monitoring Programs (PDMPs). This streamlined process simplifies prescribing and reduces errors. However, some users have reported issues with the product's complexity, citing overwhelming options and a steep learning curve. Displaying information can be improved for easier follow-up, and customization to suit specific practice needs is also suggested. Despite these drawbacks, many users appreciate Nextech's efficient tech support, which addresses technical glitches promptly. Some are concerned about the cost of individual features, as well as the lack of mobile apps. ### Nextech's Practice Management Software has several resources available, including eBooks and whitepapers on topics such as revenue cycle management and PQRs measure reporting. However, pricing information is difficult to come by, with no clear costs listed on the website. Potential customers must contact Nextech directly for a custom quote via their portal, and there is no free tier or trial available. Reviews suggest that the pricing structure puts Nextech in the expensive category, with annual costs ranging from $15,000 to over $30,000, depending on the number of workstations and tech support needed. Furthermore, users who choose not to pay the annual fee may be forced to pay a hefty sum for past-due fees and current year support. While Nextech offers various functionalities, including EMR integration and streamlined scheduling, its opaque pricing model, high costs, and subscription-based model are major drawbacks. The lack of mobile apps and limited hours of support also raise concerns, leading us to recommend exploring other practice management software solutions.