Bharatanatyam practice saree

Dance practice sarees are an essential part of a dancer's life, independent of the dance form, particularly Bharatanatyam, Kuchipudi, Mohiniyattam, and others. From practice space to final rehearsals, a dance saree travels along with a female dancer. The artist's comfort from the breathable, sweat-absorbing cotton fabric allows the dancer to move with flexibility while also being the greatest partner for long hours of sweating and practice. The exquisite design coin with temple border sarees embodies the beauty of traditional dance. This is recommended for both practice sessions and final-stage rehearsals. It comes in a variety of traditional colour combinations, like maroon, green, violet, orange, white with red, orange with blue, pink with green, yellow with red, blue, green border etc. The saree measures 5.5 meters (without Blouse Material) and 0.92 meters in height, making it ¾ the length of a standard regular saree. Sarees are free-size, however, the ideal age group is from 12, depending on the artist's body type.
