Looking forward to updating drivers and resolving the issue with HP Protect Smart driver installation for Windows 8.1 installed on my Probook. Unfortunately, I was unable to find it despite having it installed.Здравствуйте, установил Windows 8.1 и все драйвера уже installirowanija. Единственный драйвер, который я не могу найти -- HP Protect Smart. Говорят, что это installed, но мне это не worked.I need these drivers...ACPIVEN_HPQ&DEV_0004:This package provides the HP 3D DriveGuard software for supported notebook models that are running a supported operating system. HP 3D DriveGuard protects the hard drive by "parking the heads" if the notebook is accidentally dropped or is abruptly impacted by another object. However, I already have it installed, and it doesn't seem to be working properly. VID 138A&PID 0005:This package contains the driver that enables the Validity Fingerprint Sensor in supported notebook models that are running a supported operating system. Unfortunately, I'm still unable to find this driver despite having it installed.To resolve the issue, I may need to manually install the driver by visiting the device manager and updating the driver. To do this, I will click on the unknown device, select Update driver, and browse for the driver folder located in C:\SWSetup\sp52354.If the driver installs successfully, I'll restart the PC and see if it resolves the issue.View solution in original post
